GRATA International Law Firm will hold a meeting of Labour Law Club

Dear Partners,

GRATA International Law Firm, within the regular remote meeting of the Labour Law Club, invites you to take part in the discussion of current aspects of the labour law application of Kazakhstan that will take place on 26 November 2021, from 3 pm to 6 pm (Almaty time). The need for this meeting is due to both a great number of changes made to the Labour Code after our last meeting, and a number of practical and interesting cases that we have already faced while applying those changes (and otherwise) which we would like to share with you.

Besides, we critically need your opinion on certain disputable situations.

Marina Kolesnikova, Counsel, GRATA International Almaty, will be the speaker of the meeting.

To make the meeting more efficient, you are kindly invited to prepare your questions in advance, which we will try to address during the meeting.

If time permits, we will also tell you about outstanding novelties in labour laws of the countries where the firm has associated offices.

We expect constructive and informative communication between practitioners that will allow all participants of the meeting spending time nice and profitably.

The workshop is intended for GRATA clients only.
